LOOK TO CANADA FOR WAY OUT TO JOBS YOUTHS

London, August 25.—The British government is fighting a desperate battle to solve the problem of obtaining employment for boys who are just leaving school and it is likely the government will ask the co-operation of Canada to open up a new field of migration. Lord Peel's declaration in Canada that Britain is not asking the Dominions to take unemployed is being published here simultaneously with reports that the work of the industrial transferee board has succeeded in placing one thousand boys from 16 to 17 years of age who have been living in the depressed areas of South Wales, Durham and Scotland in occupations in other areas.

It is suggested that the report of the industrial transferee board has succeeded in placing one thousand boys from 16 to 17 years of age who have been living in the depressed areas of South Wales, Durham and Scotland in occupations in other areas.

ONE STOP TRIAL FLIGHT, OTTAWA TO COAST, SOON

Ottawa, August 25.—A one-stop flight from Ottawa to Vancouver to test the feasibility of a transcontinental mail service is proposed by government air services in conjunction with the post office department. It was learned today. Squadron commander A. E. Godfrey, who will make the flight, expects to leave for New York within the next few days to test the large amphibian, being specially constructed for the attempt.

Flying Officer Godfrey hopes to take off on his long flight westward within two weeks. Unless strong head winds force the plane down, it is proposed to make only one landing, at the government air station on the shores of Cormorant Lake in Northern Manitoba.

On his return journey Mr. Godfrey proposes to visit all air stations in the western provinces and will probably fly as far north as Great Slave Lake, a distance of nearly 9,000 miles will be covered and the flight will be one of the longest ever attempted, it is claimed.

EXTENDING SERVICE TO ALBERTA TOWNS

Calgary, August 23.—At a meeting held Wednesday evening in Calgary, it was decided that the legal and emergency garage services of the Alberta Motor associations would be extended to the towns throughout the province. At the present time only members of the association residing in Calgary, Edmonton and Lethbridge are given such service. A province-wide campaign is now being planned, with Macleod and Medicine Hat being the first points to be included. At Macleod organization has already started and a drive for members will soon be under way.

With the granting of these services to the smaller towns it is expected that a slight increase in the membership fee of the association will be made. At the present time Alberta pays about the lowest fee in Canada. The fee is $5.50, as compared with $12.50 charged in British Columbia, where many towns enjoy the motor club services.

With the establishment of active branches throughout the province, the members of these will be given the members in the larger centres. A re-assembly service as that enjoyed by the organization of the map distribution service is also planned. It is intended that one central bureau shall be established in each community and that the same service will be given at garages, hotel service stations, as is now given by the Alberta Motor association offices.

Nearly all the Wetaskiwinites, who were spending the summer at their cottages, Mac-O Beach, have returned home.

A dog pound will be located on the premises of J. E. Weir, Lansdowne street East, and an advertisement regarding the impounding of dogs appears in The Times this week.

The question of defining the parking spaces on the principal corners of the city was discussed, and it was agreed that signs be placed at the corners of McDonald and Pearce Streets and Railways streets East and West and Pearce Street, and that the work be done with the least delay.

The Chief of Police was instructed to take action against all those breaking crossings by driving tractors over them.

Reference was made to the deep ditch made on Osler street in the construction of the government highway passing through the city, and a resolution was passed asking the Dept. of Public Works, Edmonton, to fix same, as it is now unsafe for travel.

C.P.R. for water supply. It was suggested that the C.P.R. be offered 15¢ for one thousand gallons for any quantity of water the city uses.

Ald. Howatt brought up the matter of gravelling the streets in Wetaskiwin, connecting up the Calgary-Edmonton highway. It was decided that the Public Works Department, Edmonton, be communicated with, and information obtained as to cost and terms.

Bylaws No. 623 and 624 providing for the borrowing of money for the construction of a concrete sidewalk on Pearce Street West and also on Pearce Street East were read the first and second times and will be submitted to the Public Utilities Commission for endorsement.

The matter of purchasing grader was discussed at length, when it was moved by Ingalls-Cochran, that the Austin Jr. Rip Shorter grader, 10 ft. blade, be purchased complete for $1359, one-half payment to be made in May, on condition that it meets the requirements of the Council, balance in May, 1930.

Moved by Ald. Scott—that the Russell grader be purchased with scrip for $1319. This was not seconded.

The motion carried.

The Council resolved itself into a Court of Revision and a number of names were added to the list. The voters' list for 1928 was then confirmed.

HARVEST THIS YEAR ALMOST TWO WEEKS EARLIER THAN LAST

One of the leading farmers of Brightview District, Mr. Charles Cummings, delivered his first load of this season's crop of Ruby wheat to the Western Canada Flour Mills Company Ltd., on August 25. This wheat was threshed from a ten acre field which averaged 23 bushels to the acre, and was graded No. 2 Northern. The balance of his grain crop is ready to be threshed. Last year Mr. Cummings brought in the first load of new wheat, the date being September 6th. The harvest is therefore almost two weeks earlier than last year.

PARIS DECKED WITH FLAGS AS ALL-WAR TREATY DULY SIGNED

Paris, August 27.—Representatives of world powers agreed to renounce war today.

At a simple ceremony, solemn and business-like, foreign ministers and delegates of 14 nations affixed their names to a document which pledged them against wars of aggression and denounces war as a national policy.

Germany, the common enemy of most of the other signatory nations in the world war, signed the historic document first.

The signing took place in the Great Clock room of the French foreign office, the Quai d'Orsay, where the Versailles treaty ending the World War was negotiated.

THRESHED WHEAT ON HOBBERMA FARM

Among the first central Alberta farmers to commence threshing this season is E. A. Holbrook of Ponoka. On his farm three miles south of Hobberma, Mr. Holbrook, on Thursday, threshed garnet wheat which yielded 40 bushels per acre.

The Hobberma district farmer expects a crop of 12,000 bushels this year, according to W. E. Anderson, salesman for McCullum Motors, local Studebaker dealers, who visited the Holbrook farm, Friday.—Edmonton Journal.

Farmers' Week, Innovation at Lacombe, Is Big Success

Lacombe, August 27.—A new departure was made by the staff of the Experimental Station at Lacombe last week, in the holding of a conference or Farmers' Week, which was attended by visitors from considerable distance. Farmers' Week, which was attended by visitors from considerable distance, was not over large due to an early harvest, those who came considered the time very profitably spent. In his opening address F. H. Reed, superintendent of the farm, welcomed the farmers and stated it was the intention of making Farmers' Week an annual event.

S. G. Carville, Provincial Livestock Commissioner, discussed the horse situation in the province, mentioning the fact that there is a considerable shortage of horses at the present time and with the number of horses being sold out of the province and the relatively small number being raised, there is every indication of there being an increasing demand and high prices for good work horses. He also conducted a judging class with the excellent Clydesdale mares belonging to the station, stating that these horses were a credit to any breeder or institution.

Plant Diseases
Dr. R. P. Talbot, provincial veterinarian, in discussing diseases of livestock, suggested that contagious abortion from the financial standpoint, was the most important livestock disease (Continued on Page 4)

IT IS HIGHLY IMPORTANT THAT THE STORES SHOULD BE ADEQUATELY ADVERTISED

As a patron of the stores, you have a very real interest in the advertising of the stores. Your interest begins in the fact that through the advertising you are enabled to keep in constant touch with them—to know when they offer special buying opportunities, so that you can take advantage of every economy opportunity which they provide for you.

But your interest in the advertising of the stores does not end there. You know that to a great extent a store's advertising determines the volume of business for that store.

You know that stores which run at their greatest capacity—which make the greatest possible turnover of goods in a specific time, without materially increasing the overhead or fixed expenses—are in a position to

EXAMINATION RESULTS

Alberta weekly newspaper publisher and the public in general, we imagine, will heartily agree with the Red Deer Advocate in its contention that the department of education should adopt a more satisfactory system of publishing examination results.

"Hon. Perron Baker, provincial minister of education, does not see any advantage," says the Advocate, "in the publication of examination results by examination centres in the newspapers, when the department is sending the results individually to each candidate writing. The department, in this policy, has departed from the rule of past years, and from the policy of the other provinces, at least Saskatchewan, where the results have been published in the papers by examination centres. These mass publications of partial Grade 8 results in the Calgary and Edmonton daily papers, too, discriminate against the weekly papers and the districts outside these larger cities. They are put to unnecessary trouble to segregate these partial results, and then do not get all in their districts.

"The Advocate believes the department could well follow the old rule, even if it cost a little more, and send the results to the presiding examiners at each centre, where candidates wrote, leaving them to publish the results in the papers of their district. The juniors are very anxious to know how their schoolmates came out, as well as their own fortune, and the scapery way in which results are trickling through this year certainly puts the schools and the students out of touch with the general public who only receive partial results, and these only from their own immediate friends and acquaintances.

"It is very essential that the public, even those who have no children of their own, should be kept vitally interested in the work of the schools, and the Alberta method of publishing examination results of 1928 gives no help in that direction, rather the contrary."

ART OF KEEPING YOUNG

Why should anybody grow old? Scientists tell us that every particle of our bodies, every tissue and fibre, is renewed every few years, so that the bodies we have today are not at all the bodies we had a year or two ago. If this be true, and there seems to be no question of its accuracy, the question arises, "Where do we become old?" And the only answer that can logically be given to that question is that we become old only in our minds. We think we are getting old, we believe it; therefore we get old. It must be so. If our bodies do not get old, but keep ever new while we believe we are aging, then the aging must be in our minds, not being in our bodies.

The art of keeping young would, therefore, seem to consist in keeping the mind young in its outlook, in seeing visions rather than in dreaming dreams, in taking no notice of the flight of years, and visualising ourselves as being constantly young. Birthdays anniversaries are nice occasions, especially when they are remembered by others, but they are, after all, only so many milestones that remind us of the number of miles we have travelled and that we are that much nearer to the end of the road. It may not be a good thing to be reminded of the ugly fact of growing years. We seem, somehow or other to get into our minds the idea that when a certain age is reached, when as a matter of fact there is no justification for anybody dying at all, granted that our bodies are constantly getting renewed, as science declares.

We should associate with youth more, than we do, get a youthful viewpoint on things, forget the past, let the future take care of itself, and live in the over-present. Now it is always now. To know we are living now is enough. When we learn how to do that we have learnt the art of keeping young. Above all, we should never think of "retiring." Men who retire from business usually retire to the graveyard. Three score years and ten is not a divinely-ordained limit upon life. In fact, the man who coined the phrase, Moses, lived to the age of one hundred and twenty. We should remember that One said, "I am come that ye might have life and have it more abundantly," and simply take Him at His word. It would probably mean eternal life for the race if we would only do so.

WASTE IN ADVERTISING

This is an age of advertising. Business is not get along without it. Yet many merchants waste a large share of the money they think they are spending for advertising and wonder why they do not get better results.

Women do most of the buying for the home. Now, did you ever see a woman go looking over the billboards, or reading the movie screen advertisements in order to make up her mind what or where to buy? Does she get her shopping information from a theater program or a telephone directory? Not on your life.

Outside of the store itself, the best and almost the only way to attract a prospective customer's attention to what you have to sell is through the newspaper that goes into the home. The store that advertises adequately and persistently in its local newspapers has no need to waste money on the other inferior mediums mentioned.—Exchange.

A CHALLENGE TO CANADA

So often has the criticism been made that Canada's immigration efforts have failed insofar that the British movement was not comparable to that from Northern and Central Europe. However just this criticism might be the fact remains that Canada is not receiving the number from Britain which she desires. We have encouraged the British people and have co-operated with the British Government towards a larger movement but with only fair results. No one fully understands just why this should be, least of all we here in Canada who realise the opportunities in this young country.

A few years ago, however, Britain issued a challenge to Canada in the form of a plan to bring 10,000 British to Canada in order that the opportunities in Canada could be fully realized by those concerned in the movement. Serious consideration was given to the suggestion on the part of our Government with the result that our British friends and prospective settlers are now on their way to the Western prairie. There is no doubt but that we will find their labor extremely valuable in harvesting one of the best crops in history, but their value as prospective settlers will be lost if we prevent them to return to the Old Country without the opportunity provided to remain with us. If we fail to keep the majority of these people we might as well refute our arguments in favor of larger British immigration and admit we have not the absorbing power we claim. There is less than the challenge of Britain to Canada. Can we "come through?"

fit and otherwise desirable Britishers arrived in Central Alberta intent on making their home here if we can create the opportunities. It is true they may not have a great deal of farm experience but they make up in measure by the industry with which they have expressed desire to remain at wages commensurate with their usefulness. Our concern is not during harvest but after freeze-up. Then will the story be told as to whether Canada wants and can use the best British has to offer.

The local Colonization Board realizes the opportunity presented and will endeavor to do its utmost toward the permanent settlement of these visitors. Primarily, however, it rests with the farmer to offer the actual position to the visitor, as colonization is not achieved through words but by deeds. Then British hands ask for nothing more than to be paid what they are worth and during the winter months will accept any reasonable remuneration.

POOR HIGHWAYS

Recently conducted experiments show that the cost of the motorist the equivalent of 23.3 cents on every gallon of gasoline used. This figure is reached by the assumption that a car makes ten miles to the gallon on poor roads.

On a basis of a speed of thirty-three miles per hour, tests in several states showed the cost of gasoline and tires per thousand miles over a rough road used in experiments, was $35.10 an average four-cylinder car loaded. The cost for the same car running at the same speed over a smooth highway was shown to be only about $12.80.

What better argument can there be for improving highways as fast as funds can be made available.—Box Elder News.

ALBERTA AND SASKATCHEWAN

The growth of the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan since they were brought into being by the famous "Dominion Bill" on September 1, twenty-three years ago is a feature of the history of our times that should give unalloyed pleasure to our own people and, because of its important bearing upon the world economic situation, attract the attention of students in every quarter of the globe.

When the Dominion created the two new provinces, the area affected had fewer than half a million people. The population has increased to one and a half millions, or by 500 per cent. The agricultural revenue has increased to 650 million dollars yearly, and the gross agricultural wealth to three billion dollars, or to more than one-third of the total for the whole Dominion. The ratio of rural to urban population has declined slowly, but in actual numbers the rural population has increased its land. The number of manufacturing plants and their outputs have multiplied by fifteen. The population classified as urban has grown almost to the half million mark.

Settlers have flocked into Canada's prairie provinces because these provinces offered better prospects of obtaining a comfortable living from the soil than was to be found in Europe and many parts of Ontario and the United States. The bringing under cultivation of new wheat lands in the west during the last twenty years has made Canada the greatest wheat exporting country in the world.

The political aspects of western development are important. The representation in the house of commons of the districts to the west of Ontario has increased in the last quarter century from 28 to 69 seats, and is now greater than that of Quebec, the largest and longest settled province. This shifting of the balance of power has modified public opinion in regard to the tariff, public ownership and other matters to a degree that politicians have been slow to realize.

Nor are the prairie provinces near the maximum development. More of their fertile lands are unused than the portion that is being cultivated. The exploitation of mineral wealth in their northern hinterlands will add to their prosperity. Their biggest days are ahead. The coming of those days will bring a stimulus to the well-being of every part of Canada.—Toronto Star.

WE'RE THANKFUL FOR OUR TOWN BOOSTERS

We appreciate the boosters. We've said that before, but we want to say it again. As far as we are, as free with our appreciation as we are sometimes with our depreciation? If it wasn't for the boosters of the community, a town would never advance. They are the people who are willing to do civic improvement work. They contribute freely of their time. They dig down liberally for donations to help make Acton better. And why do they do it? Because they have a sense of town pride and are willing to show it in a practical way. They never get any direct remuneration, and as a rule never expect any. They are generally progressive in their own business and willingly help the town progress. Thank goodness we have numbers of them in Acton. They have improved the park, they make the fall fair go, they keep the sports active, they "run" the community societies and organizations, they exert themselves to secure new industries, they provide the holidays with attractions and make the town a mecca for the countryside, and in other ways seek to make the town better. You'll find them in many activities, never seeking their own gain, but always on the lookout to make Acton more attractive. Thank goodness we have them. Without them the town would be dead. If it is impossible for you to be one of them yourself, don't dishonor the fellow who is one. Let us tell the other fellow we appreciate his efforts often.—Acton Free Press.

LIFE

"Who knows," said Henry Ford recently, "how much human life may be lengthened before another century is passed?" The question suggests others. Ever since Old Testament days mankind has discussed the value of a long life as compared with a short one. We are still foundering on the edge of the sea of knowledge of the deeper laws of life. When we have so much more of that knowledge and it is brought into operation so widely that human life is increasingly healthier and longer, will there be more hope and happiness in the world and less doubt, and sadness and anxiety? Will health and vigor and length of days lessen the cause of sorrow and regret. There is no profit in day-dreaming over such questions. Now and here we can live as worthily as men and women will ever

Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies Visit Lake of the Hanging Glaciers in British Columbia

Hundreds of lovers of the great outdoors have joined the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, an organization of poets, novelists, scientists, educators, artists, Indian chiefs, cowboys, nature lovers in general, and those who wish to perpetuate ancient trails in the Canadian Rockies and get the grand kick of a wonderful horseback ride through the Canadian Rockies to scenic wonders which have been viewed by more hands. John Murray Gibbon, of Montreal, first organized this great ride, which this year started August 2, for this lake of the Hanging Glaciers, from Banff and Lake Windermere, B.C. Each year it has been bigger and better and the membership now exceeds a thousand, many of whom have won the gold and enamel buttons signifying that they have ridden at least five hundred miles. Of the hundred so qualifying, 23 are ladies. Three of the girl-members who joined up with the main party this year on the start for the Lake had already covered upwards of 200 miles of mountain trails.

The Lake of the Hanging Glaciers, about 7,500 feet above sea level, in the Selkirk Range, was discovered about 50 years ago, but is still as wild as ever. Its name gives some idea of its spectacular appearance, which is that of an immense cirque, with eight glaciers forming a moraine which drops off sheer in an ice wall nearly 300 feet higher than the lake itself. From this wall icebergs are falling continually, and forming a miniature Arctic sea in the heart of the mountains. Surrounded as it is by jagged peaks, the lake is a real wonder, and is a feature of the history of our times that should

U.F.A. Convention Held at Stettler

Stettler, August 14th.—What was termed as the most successful and enthusiastic Annual Convention of the Camrose U.F.A. Federal Constituency Association, was held here in the T.O.O.F. hall on August 14th. The hall was taxed to capacity with the large number of delegates and visitors present. W. T. Lucas, M.P., representative of the constituency in the Federal House, gave a full and interesting report of the work of the last session at Ottawa, which was followed with keen interest, and at the close the convention tendered to Mr. Lucas, by a standing vote, a unanimous vote of confidence.

Hector MacKenzie, president, reported on the work of the Association for the past year. A. G. Andrews, M.L.A., was appointed chairman, and A. L. Sanders, M.L.A., addressed the delegates and visitors to Stettler.

William Irvine, M.P. for Wetaskiwin, gave a most interesting address on the U.F.A. organization, which was heartily applauded.

Mr. Lucas, in opening his address, stated that he was pleased to see so many delegates present, that it was an indication that the farmer was endeavoring to keep up his end in the changing conditions that were becoming world-wide, and urged them to stand fast by their organizations as the only hope of securing their economic freedom, and hoped they would continue to lead in the co-operative spirit which meant so much to future civilization.

In dealing with the business of the session, Mr. Lucas stated that the Speech from the Throne dealt principally with the history of the previous session and its natural developments; a great deal of space was taken up over the Jubilee Celebrations.

Among the important things mentioned was the exchange of plenipotentiaries to France and Japan, separation of civil and military aviation, an airship mooring tower, and terminal were to be erected in Montreal, and in the member's opinion, most important of all was the decision to further improve facilities for industrial and scientific research, for which during the session a vote of $750,000 was passed as a beginning of this important work.

In speaking of the Budget, which was dealt with in some detail, Mr. Lucas stated that the total revenue collected last year amounted to $364,665,000, leaving a gross surplus of $64,815,000; from this was deducted $14,000,000 loss on Soldier Land Settlement Loans and $2,000,000 written off on Seed Grant and relief advances, leaving a net surplus of $38,815,000. Since Mr. Robb became Finance Minister the Liberals claim to have reduced the National Debt by approximately $118,000,000, while the Conservatives claim it has in reality been increased by about $45,000,000. When Mr. Fielding was Finance Minister he charged up against the consolidated revenue fund the amount that was annually advanced to the Canadian National Railways and Merchant Marine, and therefore was unable to show a surplus. When Mr. Robb became Finance Minister he changed the system of book-keeping and now the money for the railways is provided for by an issue of bonds, this would be all right if the railways were not already over-capitalized. However, by this change, Mr. Robb has been able to show a surplus each year.

Relief in taxation was given by reducing (a) Income Tax (b) Sales Tax, (c) Tariff. Mr. Lucas criticized the reduction in the Income Tax and showed that while the amount required to take care of war expenditure amounted to $184,501,000, only $146,470,000 revenue from war taxation had been raised, leaving a deficit of $13,031,000, which must come from Customs revenue, therefore no important cut a tariff need be expected.

The only change in tariff last session had been in the cotton and wool schedules, when 122 items had been deleted and 159 new items substituted and no one could definitely say what the effect was on the general tariff rate; what was noticeable was, that what reductions took place, were on the raw material of the manufacturers thus giving him the benefits of both free trade and protection, whilst the farmer gets neither, and he illustrated the case of the Australian treaty, where the protection which the dairy industry formerly enjoyed, had been removed in order to benefit certain manufactured products.

In dealing with new legislation he outlined the following amendments to the Dominion Lands Act, giving the right to second homestead, pension act amendment, soldier land settlement, reduction in coal rate from Alberta to Ontario to $6.75 per ton, E.D. & B.C. Railways Bill and dealt with the bills opposed, viz.: Bell Telephone and Sun Life Bills.

Mr. Lucas gave a very full account of the working of the Immigration Inquiry committee, which sat during the last session, and gave a list of some thirteen recommendations that were passed, but, in his opinion, the most important one was Provincial co-operation with the Federal authorities, which would give each province the right to say what number and class of immigrants they were prepared to receive and properly settle.

The member stated that in his opinion if the millions of dollars now being spent in trying to induce people to come to Canada, were spent on developing and improving conditions at home and keeping those who are already here, it would prove to be the best immigration policy that could be evolved.

William Irvine, M.P. for Wetaskiwin, then addressed the convention and dealt with the following subjects:

1. What the organization is really doing.

2. Establishment of a co-operative Government.

3. The economic conditions under which the present system of Government, viz., the two party system, was inaugurated.

4. Economic structure has completely changed during the last hundred years.

5. Today is the age of specialization.

6. The inability of the present political system to function properly or advantageously at the present time.

7. The present political system is entirely opposed to and entirely disregards the great principle of co-operation.

8. The advantages of group system of Government.

9. Substitute co-operation for present system.

10. Law of Co-operation.

During the course of the convention a number of resolutions were dealt with and passed, including questions dealing with public control of water power, immigration, tariff, finance and gambling at agricultural fairs.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows:

President, Hector MacKenzie, Sedgewick.

1st Vice-President, Mrs. Leona Barrett, Mirror.

2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Ed. Kehoe, Camrose.

Secretary, Frank Grandage, Loughheed.

SEE PROSPERITY FOR FOX FARMS

During the last two years there has been an increase of over 50 per cent. in the price of silver fox furs in spite of the fact that over sixty thousand pelts, from foxes raised in captivity, have been placed upon the market this season; and there is every reason to believe that silver fox furs are a staple commodity for which there will be a steady and increasing demand. The idea appears to have existed in the minds of the public and of some fox breeders as well, that silver fox furs have been prized and, therefore, commanded high prices, because of their rarity, and that silver fox ranching was a mere bubble that would burst when these pelts were produced in large quantities.

Numerous fox breeders held the idea that the chief hope of making money was by the sale of live foxes and that it behooved them to reap the harvest as quickly as possible. This mistaken view has done great mischief to silver fox ranching, as breeders are now beginning to realize.

An analysis of the situation as a whole indicates that silver fox ranching is a well established industry, producing a commodity for which there will be a steady and increasing demand, and, while unfortunately there are some who are exploiting the industry and straining its possibilities, the more intelligent fox breeders are making determined efforts to build up silver fox ranching along the well recognized lines that have led to success in other industries.

The National Fox Breeders' Association of Canada, in co-operation with the department of agriculture, has already established a rigid and efficient system of registration of pedigreed silver foxes in order to improve the standard of the animals, and also a system of marketing of pelts to prevent undue sacrifices that previously were a cause of great loss of revenue to the industry.

Silver fox ranching presents great financial possibilities. The cost of feed and labour, and the capital expenditure for ranching equipment are much less than in other livestock industries. The average cost of the unprepared feed at the experimental fox ranch of the department of agriculture at Summerside, P.E.I., for an adult fox per year has been about $15, and for the feed required to raise a pup from birth to maturity about $10. A well equipped pen for one pair of foxes need not cost over $100. One hundred silver foxes can readily be ranched on ten acres of land and do not require the attention of more than two men. So that even if the price of silver fox furs dropped to near the level of wild-caught red fox pelts, which is extremely improbable, there would still be a good margin of profit from silver fox ranching carried on along sound economic lines.

WASHDAYS

(Walt Mason)

In bygone times the village wives put gall and wormwood in their lives by wading deep in Monday suds, and washing all the household duds. At daybreak when the Monday came, they started up their weary game, and wrung and washed, and washed and wrung; they piled strong soap in heavy cakes until their bones were full of aches, inhaling steam and tainted air, but toiling on in sick despair till all the clotheslines in the town with garments white were loaded down. It was indeed a bitter task, and it was strange that they would ask why wives were doomed to such a chore, while men loafed round the corner store. There was a feeling then extant—you've heard about it from your aunt—that washing should be done by hand to get results supremely grand. Machines would ruin every rag that rested in the laundry bag; a weary woman had to rub all day above a steaming tub to get the everlasting dirt from out her husband's Sunday shirt. If it were to the laundry sent, 't would be returned all ripped and rent, the buttons cracked, the cuffs destroyed, and father then would be annoyed. It took the wives a long, long time to learn that wash-day is a crime, to find that washing by machine in modern laundries, putted green, removes from woman's lives an ill that used to make their feet grow chill. Now washday is a hollow form; a few observe it, sun or storm; the laundry wagons reach your door and bring them back so clean and white that seeing them is a delight. And Monday morning comes and goes without a plague of random clothes.

CANCER

With the knowledge that we now possess, the cure of cancer is only possible when the disease is recognized early and proper treatment started at once.

One of the reasons for advising that every person should go to his family physician once a year for a health examination is to provide for the discovery of disease in its early stages, and so permit of treatment at a time when it offers the best chance of cure. Otherwise, it is left to the untrained lay person to decide for himself that he is in need of medical care.

For the particular benefit of this latter group, it is necessary to point out the conditions which, if they occur, should be considered as danger signals, and should turn these persons in the direction of their family physician without delay. Everyone who experiences one of the danger signals is not developing cancer, but it requires medical skill to decide whether or not the symptoms which are present mean cancer.

In its early stages, cancer is a local condition, and, if it is completely removed, there will be no recurrence. If it is not removed, it spreads to other parts of the body and may cause cancer in these other parts. This is the simple explanation of the need for proper early treatment.

Any lump, particularly in the female breast, any abnormal discharge, any sore that does not readily heal, any wart or mole that changes in size or appearance are danger signals.

Pain may not occur in the early stages. The person who thinks that the condition cannot be serious because there is no pain is mistaken, and, as a result, he may allow the time for cure to slip past.

Medical and surgical knowledge, experience and skill are at the service of the public, but they must wait until the public decide to call upon them. Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered by letter. Questions as to diagnosis and treatment will not be answered.

WHERE THEY GO

Winnipeg Free Press: Professor C. E. Griffin has worked out a life table for motor vehicles. Assuming 100,000 new cars to be placed on the market in any given January, there will be but 53,310 survivors at the end of six and a half years, that in ten and a half years there will be only 13,950 survivors, and that in fourteen and a half years, the number of survivors will be 760.

Sooner or later a large part of the 4,000,000 cars annually produced and of the 22,000,000 already in existence in the United States find their way to the automobile dumps which now spread out along most important highways.

Heard at the sports meet: "That rouse certainly looks natural. I thought for a long time that it was your skin." "Well, it's the next thing to it," was the reply.

P. C. Petersen and Family Now Moving Northward

Dear Friends: We must now tell you about our journey northward. We packed everything in the forenoon of May 24 and got out as far as George Ferguson's in Glendale, where we stayed for the night. Then Grover Ferguson, wife and daughter, and Earl Ferguson, wife and son, came to spend the last evening with us. After spending a pleasant evening and a good night's rest, we started on our journey on the morning of May 25, traveled through Burbank, Santa Barbara, and got as far as Gavito, Calif., where we camped for the night. We must not forget to mention that we saw the effects of the fish of water which was released by the breaking of the dam at or near Saugus, in fact they had just repaired the road so that it was passable. Many orange groves, gardens, fields, and happy homes were lying waste.

The following day we travelled along the river Salinas, and made 175 miles.

May 27 was quite windy. We drove through Santa Cruz, Felton, and Glenwood. Here we saw some big trees close to Mount Hermon. We came through the Holy City. There is a religious sect here who are trying to make a heaven out of earth and live a perfect life. I cannot tell to what success they are having, they seem to be very pleasant people, but after all it is said and done, they are after the long green the same as the rest of us. This is a very pretty country and the climate is almost perfect, so that as far as dress is concerned, a person might very well get along with fig leaves; in fact, we saw some ladies that had little more on. I believe that Canada will have a harder race, for even up there with the chilly blast, the ladies seem to dress about as scant as they do in sunny California.

The following day we stopped at Oakland, visited a cousin of my wife and had a nice visit. The following day we took a ferry boat to San Francisco, and saw the Golden Gate park, museum, the Japanese garden and other things of interest. We came almost forgetting that we came through San Jose, a very pretty place.

Leaving Oakland we crossed Carquinez Strait, the bridge we crossed is supposed to be the longest bridge in the world, and of course a toll

We drove on to Santa Rosa, which is Luther Burbank's home place, for we wanted to see some of his creations, and am sorry to say, while we did see some rare plants, the place showed signs of neglect. Burbank's widow occupies the house, the main gardens and fields have been sold to a company who are commercializing Luther Burbank's secrets in plant breeding.

The country around here is practically occupied by fruit growers, mostly vineyards. They also claim that this is the home of the Bartlett pear.

We might mention here the many wild flowers we saw, such as wild iris, different aprons, cleander, fern, columbine, lilacs and others.

We traveled all the time as near the coast as we could possibly get, although as wild a country as there is in California, for we had seen so many cities and civilization, that we wanted to get nearer to nature, therefore we left the paved highway and took the byways.

In our next letter we will tell you about our journey to Portland, Ore., and Payallup, Wash., and if anyone wishes to write us, we would be glad to hear from them.

Address: P. C. Petersen, 1750 Leavenworth Street, Omaha, Neb., U.S.A.

Yours truly,
P. C. Petersen and Family.

ALBERTA TAKES STEPS TO CHECK PARALYSIS
CASES IN CHILDREN

Edmonton, August 21.—Taking yet another forward step in the battle against infantile paralysis, the Provincial Department of Health will attempt preventive measures by treatment of incipient cases who have reached the convalescent stage of the disease.

Hon. George Hoadley, minister of health, announces today that in view of favorable results which have been reported from the special hospital, in the use of serum from convalescent patients, arrangements are now in hand for the special treatment of incipient cases, with a view to checking the diseases before actual paralysis and the subsequent crippling of limbs and binding of muscles, has commenced.

OLD MAN ALMOST COMPLETES LONG HIKE

Mr. W. H. Chapman, 79 years of age, but hale and hearty, arrived in Red Deer on Friday morning last, on his way to Edmonton. Mr. Chapman is on a 20,000-mile hike, started in 1923, to circle the Continent. A Milwaukee millionaire put up $5,000 to the effect that an old man could beat a young man on a long distance hike. Two young men and Chapman started at the same time, but both young men have dropped out. Mr. Chapman has covered close to 19,000 miles so far, and from Edmonton goes to Winnipeg and on to Wisconsin, which will complete the trip. Mr. Chapman had Sheriff Hogg and Commissioner Stephenson sign letters of identification, stating that he had been at Red Deer.—Advocate.

Farmers' Week

breeders had to contend with the present time. He suggested hygiene and suitable feeds and feeding as partial remedies for this trouble.

Dr. G. B. Sanford, in charge of the Dominion Research Laboratory, conducted in co-operation with the University of Alberta, in discussing plant diseases, root rots and smut, said that the staff of the Research Laboratory is at the present making a plant survey of Alberta, and are experimenting in the control of plant diseases in co-operation with the Experimental Station of Lacombe. Up to date there is very little information of control measures of root rot, but suggest both formaldehyde and copper carbonate dust treatment for control of smut.

G. E. DeLong, assistant superintendent, pointed out the association of field crops with livestock and the importance of suitable rotations in maintaining yields and soil hygiene with respect to weed and plant disease control.

Speaking on weed legislation, W. J. Stephens, Field Crop Commissioner, outlined the efforts made by the provincial government in combatting weeds. It was a surprise to many to learn that 40 men are working the province in a campaign to spread information relative to the control and eradication of noxious weeds.

The care and management of dairy and beef cattle as well as judging classes was conducted by Professor Sinclair of the University of Alberta, and H. E. Wilson, Assistant Superintendent. The judging classes brought out some very live discussion on the finer points of beef type by different breeders of Central Alberta.

In the swine judging class Professor Sinclair pointed out the most suitable types of Yorkshires, Tamworth and Berkshires in the breeding stock of the station; and H. E. Wilson outlined the R.O.P. work being started this year. The necessity of suitable minerals and pasture for hog feeding are very well demonstrated by different feeding experiments under way. Gavin Barbour of the Dominion Livestock branch, gave an excellent demonstration of hog breeding and as an illustration of the excellent work of the swine breeders of Central Alberta were eliminated from the money classes by the boys and girls of the different swine clubs.

Much interest was evidenced in wheat grading on protein content as discussed by Dr. R. Newton, Professor of Field Crops, University of Alberta. In Dr. Newton's opinion there is quite a future for this method of grading, and although the present system has many good points he considered the most satisfactory method would be by protein content.

Wheat Experiments
G. E. DeLong in reviewing wheat experiments conducted at the farm, said that Marquis and varieties of similar maturity were too late in maturing for the Park belt of the Province. Marquis wheat being the standard milling wheat of the world and in many respects our best all round wheat, should be grown wherever it will mature with no danger of being injured by early fall frosts. For districts such as Lacombe and Edmonton, Garnet and Reward are recommended.

W. J. Groom, poultryman at the station, gave a demonstration on culling the farm flock and also outlined the method of feeding and management followed in the poultry plant. D. C. Foster, R.O.P. Inspector of the Experimental Farm System, reviewed the experimental work conducted at the different branches of Experimental Farms, and J. H. Hare, Provincial Poultry Commissioner, outlined the method of producing approved farm flocks as conducted by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Those who heard the poultry program were away very enthusiastic poultry keepers.

The excellent work of William Berggren, gardener, is a demonstration of the wonderful possibilities there are in the production of flowers, vegetables, and bush fruits in Central Alberta.

Best Forage Crops
In reviewing forage crop work, G. E. DeLong outlined the importance of forage crops to the station in particular and to Alberta in general. The experimental station maintains large numbers of livestock and the results obtained in small tests plots are given the acid test of practicability for use to production of suitable forage for 35 horses, 100 cattle and 400 hogs. The animals will soon locate any weak spots. The silage crops used are green oats, sunflowers and corn. Permanent and annual pasture was then gone into thoroughly, browse grass being recommended for permanent pasture and a mixture of sweet clover and western ryegrass where it is intended to leave the land in a dry state for one or two years only, while a mixture of alfalfa and ryegrass had proven a most satisfactory hay crop.

In concluding the program Mr. Reed impressed upon the visitors that the station was conducted for their use and extended to them a cordial invitation to avail themselves of any useful information whenever they so desired.

14 KILLED AND SCORES INJURED IN NEW YORK

New York, August 25.—Fourteen persons were killed and more than one hundred injured in a subway wreck at the rush hour last evening.

The ninth car, crowded with homegoers, buckled in half like a bent pin, hurled through the air, and was cut lengthwise by the cement wall and steel stanchions that separated the two tracks. One-half slithered down the rails at least 200 feet before crumpling into a heap of torn steel and twisted sheeting against one side wall. The other half of the car crumpled beside the smashed wall, its massive trucks leaning against the structure. Between the two smashed portions of the car lay other bits of wreckage, parts of clothing, battered straw hats, and here and there bits of human wreckage yet to be cleared away.

At the Bellevue hospital nearby 20 physicians and 50 nurses worked in the emergency ward as the injured were carried in, clothes torn, hatless, some blood-stained, others unconscious in the arms of firemen and policemen.

ALBERTA NOT ANXIOUS TO BELL PROVINCIALLY OWNED ROADS—SMITH

Winnipeg, August 23.—"We're not anxious to sell the provincially-owned railroads. They are not on the bargain counter."

"They are improving all the time and the longer we keep them the more valuable they become," said Hon. Vernon W. Smith, Alberta minister of railways and telephones, in an interview here Wednesday night. He was speaking of the B.C. and B.C. Railway and the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, which it has been proposed to trans-continentalize.

Mr. Smith stated that extension to the railway will be completed in time for this year's harvest, now under way in the Peace River country.

With six other officials of the Alberta government telephones, Mr. Smith passed through Winnipeg on his way to Miami, Ont., to attend the conference of Canadian and United States telephone officials. The conference starts on Friday.

FLIER FROM NORTH MAKES LONG FLIGHT

Dropping out of the skies in the gathering dusk on Thursday evening, Capt. Doc Oaks completed a 450-mile flight from Edmonton to Edmonton after bucking against bad flying conditions for a greater part of the journey. Picking up the Parliament Buildings as a guide, the aviator made a wide circle of the river basin just above the high level bridge, and swooping down he placed his machine on the water right in front of the Great Ravine.

When seen Thursday night, Captain Oaks stated that the work undertaken by the Northern Aerial Mining Exploration Corporation in the north of this province has only just begun, and that no claims have yet been staked, but he added that the indications are that next year a considerable force would be employed in reconnaissance work. At present the company was only employing a skeleton force.

HARVESTERS EXCURSIONS ARE CALLED OFF

Montreal, August 25.—Harvesters excursions previously arranged to follow as the second series of the present season have been cancelled by both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific railways, according to an official statement issued Friday by traffic officers of those transportation systems.

This action followed a conference at Winnipeg which was attended by representatives of the railways and officials of the government employment service.

Instructions have been issued to all agents throughout eastern Canada, including Ontario, Quebec, and the Maritime, to stop the sale of tickets.

It is stated that the total number of harvesters carried from eastern Canada and Great Britain and already arrived at the harvest fields, or on the way thereto, has reached 40,000, while British Columbia to date has sent 1200 more than originally anticipated.

GOVERNMENT TO INSTRUCT NEW FLIERS

Ottawa, August 24.—Members of Canadian flying clubs who obtain their "private pilot" licenses during the present year will be available for selection for an advanced course of training under the direction of the air board.

At present there are 500 civilians taking instruction in flying through clubs scattered over Canada. Where practicable the advanced work will be carried on at one of the three central stations, Camp Borden, High River and Vancouver. In the case of clubs situated at a great distance from any of these centres instructors will be sent by the R.C.A.F. and the training given locally, it was officially announced Thursday.

Later on it is proposed to extend to the larger universities and colleges the privileges of nominating candidates for the air board, to maintain an organization by which students on graduation from the air school may be placed in touch with commercial openings.

TOUGH GRADE WHEAT POLICY SET BY POOL

Winnipeg, August 24.—In view of some known frost damage and the probability of some not yet disclosed, making for considerable tough wheat, the board of directors of the selling agency have decided that on wheat this year they will make classification as regards the tough grade, although the prices have gone out showing an initial payment of eight cents per bushel under the straight grade. There will be special consideration given to wheat delivered through pool elevators, and also tough wheat loaded over the platform and billed direct to pool terminals.

JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIPS WETASKIWIN NEXT WEEK

Silver Cups Held by Miss Chiddy and Jointly by Arthur Brickman and Morgan French Will Go to the Winners

Who are to be the champion junior athletes of the city of Wetaskiwin and district for the year 1928-29? The issue will be decided at the fair grounds on Friday afternoon of next week, at 4 o'clock, when a program of events will be staged by the Wetaskiwin Sports Association. Athletes under the ages of 18, resident in Wetaskiwin or district, registered with the Alberta Branch of the A.A.U. of C., are eligible to compete.

Miss Norma Chiddy won the girls' all-round honors last year; the points for the boys' championship were divided between Morgan French and Arthur Brickman. The silver cups awarded by the Wetaskiwin Sports Association, and held by the above-named for the past twelve months, will be presented to the aggregate winners on Friday of next week.

While the program will be most interesting, with keen competition assured, there will be no admission fee charged to spectators.

NORMA TO COMPETE IN SENIOR MEET AT BANFF

Entered in the Women's Track and Field Championships of the Alberta Branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada

The Senior Track and Field Championships of the Alberta Branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada will be held at Banff on Saturday next, with the finals on Labor Day, and Miss Norma Chiddy will be Wetaskiwin's competitive representative.

There is a prevalent air of optimism that when the gold medals are being handed out, Miss Norma's name will be called.

Miss Chiddy has been diligent in her training activities, and, though the conditions at the track are not as favorable for fast stepping as they were on August 15th, Miss Chiddy has been steadily improving. In the 100 yards the other evening she was "clocked" at 12.35, and speed over the 220 course in 39.35. This will take some beating, and her consistent trials of 4 foot 4 inches in the high jump look mighty good. Mr. and Mrs. Chiddy and Mr. Bellamy will take in the big games, Miss Norma being entered in the entire program of women's events, which consists of the two sprints, the running broad jump and the running high jump. Wetaskiwin's fair athlete will carry the colors of the Wetaskiwin Sports Association, a sash of old gold, with the word "Wetaskiwin" in purple lettering.

Florence Crang, of Edmonton, is the holder of the Alberta record for women, 12 seconds for the 100 and 29 for the 220, but she has retired from the track. Miss Hansen, of Cardston, set a new mark here on the 15th for juniors of 12 to 15 for the century dash and an even 31 for the 220 yards.

Edith Barnett, of Edmonton, cleaned up on four events at the Women's Championships last year, negotiating the hundred yards in 12.35, the 220 yards in 35.35, and coping the high jump with an even 4 feet. Gladys Fry of the Edmonton Grads, holds the provincial high jump record with a mark of 4 feet 6 inches.

WETASKIWIN REPRESENTED AT ANNUAL UNION MEETING

At a meeting of the Wetaskiwin Sports Association, B. W. Bellamy was selected as delegate of the Association to the annual meeting of the Alberta Branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, to be held in Banff on Monday of next week. A financial statement which was presented showed that the Provincial Meet here had been a big success financially, as well as in every other respect. The possibilities of the Meet being held here again were discussed, and, while it was decided not to ask for the privilege next year, if the Branch expresses any opinion to the effect that such would be to their interests, the Sports Association would be quite willing to stage the Meet. It was, however, definitely decided, that a Track and Field Meet, if better than ever (if possible) would be arranged for, possibly the Senior Track and Field Championships.

ANOTHER SWIMMER CONQUERS CHANNEL

Dover, England, August 25.—A girl swimmer conquered the English Channel yesterday, the second of her sex to perform the feat this year. Hilda Sharp, called by her intimates "Laddie" because of her boyish appearance, entered the water at Cape Gris Nez, France, at 12:50 a.m. and came ashore here at 3:55 p.m. after 15 hours and 5 minutes in the water.

Thus she missed by 34 minutes her goal of breaking the record set by Gertrude Ederle, of the United States. Miss Sharp went after the record because a London newspaper has offered a prize of $5,000 to the first English girl to lower it and she wanted the money to aid her in getting a farm in Australia.

Miss Ivy Hawke, 25 year-old English woman, succeeded in her second attempt to swim the Channel on August 24th. Her time was 19 hours and 16 minutes.

BANK OF MONTREAL BRANCH MANAGERS CONVENED IN CAMROSE ON TUESDAY LAST

C. W. Chesterton, Alberta Superintendent of the Bank of Montreal, held a conference of branch managers at Camrose on Tuesday of this week, following a luncheon at the Hotel Alice, a game of golf was enjoyed on the local course. Tea was served in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Robinson. Those present were, C. W. Chesterton, of Calgary; V. Prast, Wetaskiwin; R. S. Hinton, Vegreville; W. D. Cairns, Leduc; A. E. Gardner, Provost; A. E. Munson, Mundare; C. D. Compton, Hughenden, and T. H. Grierison, of Chipman—Canadian.

ANOTHER BIG BOOSTER FOR BIGGER WETASKIWIN

To the Editor of The Times. Dear Sirs: Greetings to you and your city and wish you many a prosperous year. Being at one time a resident of Wetaskiwin, it makes one feel proud to read the home town news, also to read of its marvelous growth and business opportunities which you afford. Personally, I think Wetaskiwin has prospered more in the last ten years than any town in Washington its size, and I hope the people will always take pride in their community affairs as a whole and still units as ours. As I glanced over your paper I noticed the good showing Wetaskiwin put forth in sports and with the good co-operation it was put on. Closing with a dream of bigger and better Wetaskiwin.

RAILROAD GIANT 100 FEET LONG WEIGHS 212 TONS

Montreal, August 27.—The largest passenger locomotive in the British Empire emerged from the Angus shops Saturday under her own steam, and close to 8,000 employees, most of whom have contributed something to her creation, stopped to cheer. As her throttle gently opened for the first time, she moved slowly forward. She is a triumph of Canadian design and engineering craftsmanship, a graceful mechanism, nearly 100 feet long, with a tractive effort of 60,000 pounds, equal to 3,655 horsepower.

The new K.N.-1 A class locomotive was built from designs originated in the motive power department of the Canadian Pacific railway in the company's own shops. By its own employees. Two of these engines have been constructed and they will first be operated on the Montreal-Toronto line.

Although its weight, 424,000 pounds, is greater than that of any other passenger engine in Canada, the extensive use of Canadian nickel steel parts has reduced it to a minimum, and the high ratio of tractive power to weight is a notable feature of the new engine.

COUPLE HURT IN CAR CRASH

Crashing into the end of a truck which was said to have stopped suddenly ahead of the car in which they were riding late Friday night on the Calgary trail, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Reed of Lacombe lie in the Royal Alexandra hospital as the result of injuries sustained in the crash.

From early accounts of the accident the car in which the Reeds were riding was closely following the truck which suddenly stopped to pick up a tire or some other object from the road.

The closeness of the Reed's car prevented clearing of the two vehicles, and Reed's car had the side badly "bowed in." Building not to be removed until the new school is in operation. Highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. A marked cheque for 10% of the amount to accompany tender.

When the Minister Came to Tea

(By Susan Hubbard Martin)

"Really, we ought to have the minister to supper, now that his wife is away visiting," said Mrs. Allen, thoughtfully. "He was in yesterday, and he looked lonesome."

"We can't until we get some new dishes," replied Lesbia, decisively. "I'd be mortified to death."

Lesbia was tall, straight and gold-en-haired. She had a firm chin with a dimple in it. "Like most girls, she had her ideals. She disliked shabby furniture, made-over gowns and worn carpets. Her especial aversion was nicked and cracked dishes. She complained a good deal in the little house because old things had to take the place of new. Mrs. Allen was a poor man, and Mrs. Allen an invalid, so there was little left for "extras" when all expenses were paid. Lesbia worried and fretted over the little economies she was forced to practice, ignoring the fact that she had more blessings than she could count.

The little brown house was shabby enough, but it was clean and homelike. No one but Lesbia would have noticed its shabbiness, for although the carpets had seen their best days, there were plenty of books and easy chairs, the windows were full of flowers and the sun shone into every room.

Mrs. Allen looked across at her tall daughter wistfully. She was a slender, frail woman, with a sweet face, worn thin by years of ill health.

"I don't think the minister would notice the dishes, dear, if you had one of your nice suppers," she said gently. "We could have fried chicken and hot biscuits, and you might make—"

"No, mother, I can't!" replied Lesbia shortly. "I'm ashamed of our old, shabby things. We haven't a whole cup in the house. Those that have handles are nicked, and those that are not nicked have no handles. The same thing is true of the vegetable dishes.

The only thing in the house that isn't broken is grandma's old blue china platter and that wouldn't have escaped if we hadn't put it away. That's what those careless girls did for you before I was old enough to manage things."

"True enough, dear," answered her mother, cheerfully, "and grateful indeed both father and I are that we have a daughter to look after us. We only wish we could do more for her."

"I don't mind so much about my own clothes," said Lesbia, soberly, "but I should like a lovely home, with nothing old or broken in it."

"I don't believe the minister would care about the dishes," went on Mrs. Allen, still cheerfully. "You make such good tea he'd forget all about the cup that held it. I wish we were rich for your sake, little daughter, but I believe, I really do, that you take our poverty too much to heart. It's not always so, but perhaps you need the discipline."

"It seems to me I get a good deal of it," retorted Lesbia. "I won't complain, since it only distresses you, but I do like pretty things, especially dishes. I love fine china and cut glass and silver, and beautiful table linen, and since I can't have them I'm not going to air our poverty by inviting the minister to tea. He gets his meals over at Mrs. Porcival's. She is rich and has all those things."

"Yes, but she's old and deaf and peculiar, and I don't believe she has any more to eat in her fine dishes than we do in our old ones. At any rate, I know that the meals are not cooked any better, and I should like to show the minister a little hospitality. His wife was so kind to me when I had that last bad turn. Never a day that she didn't come over or else send me something. Won't you, dear?"

But Lesbia rose quickly, and went away beyond the sound of her mother's pleading voice. She shut her door of her little white room tight. Her dimpled chin looked firmer than ever. "I'm not going to!" she whispered, rebelliously.

Lesbia always said afterward that she would never have changed her mind if it had not been for that sermon. There were not many at church that Sunday morning, but Lesbia was always glad she went.

The minister took his text from Judges, third chapter and thirty-first verse: "And after him was Shamgar, the son of Anath, which slew of the Philistines six hundred men with an ox goad; and he also delivered Israel."

His subject was "Christian Courage," and he told how much God's people had accomplished with humble instruments—Gideon with his lamps and pitchers, David with his sling, Dorcas with her needle, and so on down to our own times. He told of brave Benjamin West, who made his first paintbrush with fur from a cat, of Watts, with his tea-kettle, of Sir Isaac Newton with his apple, and a long line of struggling, ambitious men and women, who would not let circumstances conquer them.

"They didn't wait for the appliances of skill and science," the minister said. "If they had waited, they would have gone to their graves obscure and unknown. They worked with what they had."

Lesbia went straight to her mother's room after church that morning. "Mother," she said, "I've thought better of what you asked me. If you still wish it, we will have the minister over to supper after all."

Mrs. Allen's face lightened up. "Thank you, dear," she answered, and Lesbia knew by her tone how happy she had made her.

The minister said he did not know when he had had such a pleasant time—not since his wife had gone on her visit. Lesbia had set the table with painstaking care. The tablecloth was white, the silver teaspoons shone and there was an abundance of flowers. The supper was delicious, and the minister ate as if he enjoyed everything.

After supper Lesbia played and sang a little, and the minister entertained the family with stories and anecdotes. It was good to see how Mrs. Allen's face brightened, and how her husband's face lost its tired lines.

Lesbia saw it all and cropt away, humbled, but strengthened with a new courage and a new resolution—a resolution to make the best of narrow means, not to let poverty dwarf and thwart her aspirations, but to accept her life with its environments as God given, and with all its limitations to press on to greater things.

Lesbia went to the door with her guest that evening. The tall, gray-haired minister looked down upon her with kind eyes. "That was a very nice supper, Lesbia," he said, laying a fatherly hand on her young shoulder. "I don't know when I have enjoyed anything more. It is easy to see to whom I am indebted for it."

Lesbia smiled. "It is we who are indebted to you," she answered gently. "Didn't you notice how much you helped mother?" She'll think of it for a month." She looked up at the tall figure impulsively.

"Mother and father wanted you to come so much," she added, "but I—I thought we hadn't things fine enough. I wanted new dishes and cut-glass, and we couldn't have them, so I felt rebellious. I wasn't going to ask you at all, until you preached on Shamgar and his ox-goad, and then it came to me to make the best of what I had. So I'm going to."

They stood in the open door. The minister laid a hand on the golden head. He read the new look of submission in the girlish face, the spirit of meekness that had lately come to her. He foresaw struggles before her, but in the end, with this new grace in her heart, there would be success and victory. "She will make a fine woman," he thought.

He looked off across the moonlit hills, thinking of his own life, and of the years when he, too had fought against the hardness of his lot; of those hard years before he had learned to overcome, to sacrifice, to serve, to be humble.

"Keep it up, Lesbia," he said. "Good night!"

"SALADA" TEA

Two hundred years ago a tea like "SALADA" would have cost $50.00 a pound—but such tea was then unknown—today millions enjoy the fragrance and satisfaction of "SALADA" for a small fraction of that cost.

THE WAY (?) TO DRIVE

In a contemporary we came across the following. It is addressed to men, but the woman driver may enjoy it, too. Paragraph four is particularly appealing, we think.

The recipe for meeting Saint Peter? Here it is: Take any fool, add plain ignorance and a motor car, soak the fool well in his own ego, place in the car and let go. After due time remove and set in a salin-lined receptacle and garnish with flowers.

Always drive fast and never sound your horn when leaving an alley. Race with locomotives when approaching a grade crossing. Engineers like it, as it breaks the monotony of their jobs. Take the shortest route around blind left-hand curves. Let the other follow watch out for himself. Never look around when you back up, as there is never anyone behind you. Always speed. It distinguishes you as a driver of pep.

Drive fast on wet pavements and never use non-skid chains. There is always something to stop you—often a heavy truck, or a strong curb. Drive just as if there weren't twenty million other cars in service. In wet weather always drive in trolley tracks. It's smooth going and out of the mud. Always lock your brakes and your weed chains in the tool box when skidding. It makes the job more artistic.

In sloppy weather, drive close to the curb and splash pedestrians. Dry cleaners will appreciate it. Always use a cut-out. Snappy drivers always do, and sick people love it. Never sound your horn on the road, but save it for late at night as a door bell. In this way you will be sure to get attention from mothers of sleeping children.

When driving at night, make sure one of your headlights is out. This makes people think you are Dead Eye Dick, which greatly enhances your safety. When stopping for traffic signals, always inch onto the pedestrian's right-of-way, and always make your "horseshoe" turns at intersections where the traffic is heaviest.

The fool grin. That same grin is on his face when, later, he is hurried to the morgue—only then the grin is more horrible.

WHEN YOU'RE HARD UP

You're not hard up when your purse is flat. And your trousers frayed like an old door mat.

You're not hard up when your bills fall due. And you haven't a dollar to see you through.

You're not hard up until you see the day. That you haven't a cheerful word to say.

You're not hard up when your coin is gone. And you whistle a tune as you journey on.

And you may walk the streets while others ride. And your pockets have naught but your hands inside.

That's not being broke, you may depend. You're not hard up while you have a friend.

But you are hard up and in a sorry way. If you haven't a cheerful word to say; If nothing on earth appeals to you; And you can't see charm in the skies of blue.

And you are hard up if you've reached the end. And can say in truth that you have no friend.

In dollars and cents don't count your wealth. But sum it up in good friends and health.

In little tots that call you "Dad," Who, when you're coming, are, oh, so glad; If you haven't a soul to love or care, You are hard up, though a millionaire.

Tourist traffic to Saint John this season is the largest in the history, and so far is equal if not greater than during the whole of last season. Tourists started arriving earlier this spring, and have continued in much larger numbers than in other seasons.

Colonel Scott, who is successfully producing tulip bulbs at Salmon Arm, British Columbia, believes that the industry has a future. He has one acre under this production with drying, cleaning and storage sheds. He grows two varieties of bulbs and has about a quarter of a million bulbs on hand growing.

The Alberta Amateur Championships will take place shortly at Banff, Alberta, where the annual Highland Gathering and Scottish Musical Festival is being held from August 31 to September 3. An elaborate programme has been arranged of a Scottish character, many of the athletic contests being peculiar to that race, such as tossing the caber and putting the shot.

Plans are reported to be on foot among sheep raisers to establish in Vancouver a wool grading centre similar to that functioning in Trenton, Ontario, where at present most of the wool business of Canada is conducted. An authority states this would probably have the result of increasing the returns to the producer from 25 to 50 per cent.

Although the automobile is sometimes said to be a rival to the railroad, it gives the latter a great deal of traffic. The number of freight cars used by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the transport of automobiles has doubled during the past five years, and the latest order of 300 new cars for the company has just been completely filled.

Trans-Atlantic records have been made by two new vessels, the "Duchess of Bedford" and the "Duchess of Atholl," the first two of the new cabin class quartette to be built by the Canadian Pacific Steamships. The former has just accomplished an eastbound voyage from Liverpool to Montreal in six days, four hours, and a half hour, while her sister ship, enroute at the same time, made a westbound crossing from Montreal to Liverpool in six days, 13 hours.

The second school car operated jointly by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Ontario Department of Education has been issued from the Angus Shops, Montreal, for service in the district west of Fort William. The car is a re-modelled first class coach equipped like an up-to-date "little school house" with bright classroom, with blackboard, globe, school books, registration books, and so forth; a library for the use of students and adult visitors as well; and comfortable living quarters for the teacher. The school car is able to reach remote areas where permanent school facilities are not available.

Heart Palpitated, Nerves Were Bad Had Dizzy Spells

Palpitation of the heart is one of the most common of all heart troubles, and many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death because weak, worn and miserable, have weak and dizzy spells, their nerves become unstrung and they cannot sleep.

Mrs. John Wabanos, Manitowaning, Ont., writes:—"I was very poorly, having palpitation of the heart, and my nerves were so bad I could not stand the least noise. I also had dizzy spells and felt as if I were going to drop on the floor any moment. I saw an advertisement of so I determined to give them a trial. I got a box and finding them doing me good I continued until I had taken five boxes and found complete relief."

FAVORABLE SWINE OUTLOOK

A favorable outlook for the swine industry during the next two years is indicated by the preliminary report issued by the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. It is expected that the supply of hogs will be considerably less for the next twelve months than for the year previous, and indications are that both domestic and foreign demand for pork products will show improvement.

"The present hog price situation and the anticipated supplies of hogs and hog products for the next four months," says the report, "indicate that the peak of prices in the seasonal rise, which usually takes place in the summer and fall, will probably be reached by the middle of August, and that prices will continue at about that level until the usual winter decline begins. In view of the smaller market supplies, and a probable improvement in demand for hog products, hog prices are expected to be on a higher level next winter and spring than during the same period a year ago." It is not anticipated, however, that prices will reach the level attained in the winter of 1926-27.

An important decrease in hog production in important European countries will, it is believed, bring about some improvement in the foreign demand for pork products. It is considered probable, however, that hog production in Europe will continue on a higher level during the next ten years than during the ten year period now ending.

BOARDS OF TRADE CUPS
HAVE BEEN AWARDED

The announcement was made to The Albertan Monday night by W. J. Stephens, field crops commissioner of the provincial department of agriculture, Edmonton, who judged the fields of the winners of all competitions in the Southern area, finally eliminating all fields with the exception of that of Mr. Rock.

Mr. Rock has been a consistent winner of prizes at provincial seed fairs for some years as well as winning prizes at Chicago.

W. B. Scott, of Kelsey, Alberta, has won the Edmonton Board of Trade cup for the best field of grain in Northern Alberta, and it now rests between him and Mr. Rock as to who will be the winner of the grand challenge trophy offered by the Department of Agriculture for the best field of grain entered in any competition in the Province. It is now strictly a competition between North and South and Mr. Stephens is leaving to inspect the field of Mr. Scott. After this has been done he will name the winner of the crowning honor for the whole of Alberta.

APPRECIATION

The undersigned desire to sincerely thank all those both in town and country for their timely assistance during and since the fire which destroyed their home.

GWYNNE

Mrs. A. Stroud, who has been visiting for the past few months with friends at Gwynne, is returning to her home at Staveland.

The Gwynne restaurant has been doing a rushing business for the past few days, as the highway construction gang number as high as forty.

Due to considerable sandstone, it has been found necessary to do some blasting on the highway north of here.

Mr. Foreman's construction gang appeared on the scene today and from appearances our highway will be complete in the near future.

Our new buyer for the Pool elevator, and his family, arrived in Gwynne recently. We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie to our midst.

Mrs. P. Girard and son were Edmonton visitors recently.

Mrs. C. Maygard was a Leduc visitor Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlson of Minneapolis, are spending their vacation with the former's folks near Gwynne.

A TREAT IN MEAT

FRESH, TENDER, FLAVORY ROASTS

Nice part about buying a roast is that what you don't eat one meal tastes just as delicious sliced cold for the next. Decide on one for this Sunday's dinner. Flavoury, tender, fresh assortment we carry.

CITY MEAT MARKET

PHONE 3 PROMPT SERVICE

During the next few weeks the great bulk of the Washington and B.C. Fruits will be on the market at lower prices than we have had for several years. As we are having cars coming regularly, we will be in a position to give the best possible prices

Arrange to secure your fruit while large stocks are on hand and the fruit is at its best for canning purposes. Lower prices at the last of the season are of no advantage, as over-ripe fruit is dear at any price.
